

Figure 5. Covariate balance plot with covariates sorted in descending order according to their covariate balance score in the original data. The dashed vertical line represents the average absolute correlation value for the matched data, and the solid vertical line is the covariate balance threshold. Summary statistic output from the R package CausalGPS is presented at right.